

Transgender 101: Class and Health Issues

Public lecture by Codie L. Stone

Western Michigan University
PhD Candidate in Sociology

This talk will focus on the current social climate and issues facing transgender folks in the U.S. drawn from the findings of the National Transgender Discrimination Survey (conducted recently by the National Gay Lesbian Task Force, the National Center for Transgender Equality, and the Arcus Center for Social Justice) and my own life story as a transmasculine queer person. Will discuss the varying intersections of class, race, gender identity, sexual identity for transgender folks in the medical system.

Thursday, March 20, 2014

3:30-4:45

Spes Unica 339

Co-sponsored by the Gender & Women's Studies Program and the Department of Sociology

